$377,500 Settlement for Construction Site Accident

Christopher L. Musmanno, personal injury attorney with Einhorn, Barbarito, Frost & Botwinick, reached a settlement in the case of a plaintiff, a thirty-nine (39) year old male. Plaintiff was working as a laborer for a construction company when he fell from make-shift scaffolding and sustained severe breaks to his leg and ankle. His employer had not provided safety equipment or fall protection and he required extensive surgery to repair his leg and ankle. Christine McCarthy served as co-counsel in the case.
