“Much of the success of our firm and its progression comes from the fact that Pat, who has been with the firm since clerking while in law school, has always been well entrenched as a leader in the firm, contributing her business acumen and dedication to the needs of the clients and the bar in general,” said Botwinick, who is also the Chair of the Taxation, Trusts & Estates Department.

“Gary’s leadership role began many years ago as he embraced the use of technology to improve productivity and focused on developing talent among the newer attorneys at the firm,” added Barbarito. “Gary and I are fortunate in that we have a complementary skill set and a vision for the firm whereby we can thoughtfully implement strategies for succession planning. Our recent name change was a carefully structured transition, and smoothly transferred management responsibilities and client relations.”
