Einhorn Barbarito Counsel, Jennie L. Osborne, Esq., has published "The Legal Fight Against Cyber-Bullying" in the New Jersey Law Journal on February 19, 2018.

"In last week's Law Journal, our firm contributed an article defining the new law on cyber-harassment. In this edition, let's discuss another escalating problem that is similar to cyber-harassment—cyber-bullying.

Cyber-bullying is defined as communications or postings by minor(s) on social or digital media or using cyber-technology to threaten, hurt, embarrass, intimidate or target another minor. Bullies use a variety of electronic devices to bully minors such as cell phones, email, text messages, social networking sites or websites. Bullying involves an imbalance of power and/or strength."
