

Matthew James Troiano Featured in Law360 Article, "Ex-Prosecutor To Lead Criminal Law Team At Einhorn Barbarito"

Matthew James Troiano's arrival at the firm was featured in Law360, noting that Morris County's former chief assistant prosecutor joined the firm to chair the criminal practice group, which provides clients with defense services and guidance on complex investigations.

"Regardless of the stage of the investigation or prosecution, one of the benefits of our firm is our ability to tap into the expertise of other lawyers within the firm who handle matters such as business and corporate law, tax law, employment law, etc. These attorneys can provide expert insight into some of the issues at play, allowing us to more effectively navigate the relevant issues for our clients," Troiano stated in the article.

Patricia M. Barbarito, Einhorn Barbarito' co-managing partner, called Troiano an "outstanding advocate for clients who need the highest level of representation."

Co-managing partner, Gary R. Botwinick, said Troiano was "uniquely positioned to resolve serious criminal charges."

Read the full article here: Commercial Litigator Brings Team To Einhorn Barbarito (subscription may be required).