Thomas Snyder was interviewed by Lisa Rozner for CBS New York on December 24, 2018, for a segment on the new alimony federal law, effective January 1.

“Not only is it significant, but the problem becomes this – it’s money leaving that marital estate or that joint estate – so it’s money going to the government,” he said. “Over the long haul – over five, seven or 10 years – that could be significant: $100,000, $150,000 one way or another.”
